Objectives and investment policy

The Fund seeks compliance with investment principles which are in accordance with Shariah. The Fund seeks to maximize total return over the medium to long term through a combination of capital growth and income by investing in global Shariah-compliant fixed income securities (Sukuk).

They comprise mortgage, asset-backed securities and collateralized financing obligations, zero-coupon Sukuk and coupon bearing Sukuk; convertible Sukuk; contingent convertible securities; private placements; CIS and ETF.

Investments are limited to markets where the regulatory authority is an ordinary or associate member of the International Organization of Securities Commissions (IOSCO) - further details of which are set out in www.iosco.org.

The Fund expects to invest a minimum of 70% of the Fund's Net Asset Value in Sukuk that may be USD denominated and non-USD denominated, investment grade or below investment grade or non-rated and may be fixed or floating rate, of which up to 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value may be invested in asset backed securities.

While it is generally intended for the Fund to be fully invested at all times, there may be a portion of assets held in cash or deposits at any given time.

Risk and reward profile

The Risk and Reward Indicator table demonstrates where the Fund ranks in terms of its potential risk and reward. The higher the rank the greater the potential reward but the greater the risk of losing money. It is based on past data, may change over time and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the Fund. The shaded area in the table below shows the Fund's ranking on the Risk and Reward Indicator.

- This Fund is ranked at 3 because funds of this type have experienced low rises and falls in value in the past.
- The following are risks materially relevant that are not captured by the SRRI:
 - Sukuk Investment Risk – Like for other fixed income securities, price changes in Sukuk are influenced predominantly by interest rate developments in the capital markets, which in turn are influenced by macro-economic factors.
 - Liquidity risk: The risk that arises when adverse market conditions affect the ability to sell assets when necessary. Reduced liquidity may have a negative impact on the price of the assets
 - Contingent Capital Securities risk - is given by the substantially greater risk that these instruments may have compared to other forms of securities in times of credit stress and may result in a material loss to the Fund depending on certain trigger events. Events such as breaching a predetermined issued capital ratio or determination by a regulator may lead to a partial or total loss of value, or alternatively a conversion to equity of the issuing company that may have already seen a reduction in value.
 - Mortgage and Asset-Backed Securities carry greater risk compared to other securities in times of market stress such as early payment and/or extension of the life of the underlying assets.
 - Derivative instruments risk - Counterparty, position, liquidity, settlement, correlation and legal risk are specific risks associated with the use of derivative instruments.
 - Prospective shareholders should consult their own Shariah advisers as to whether the Company, the Fund and the investments of the Fund are compliant with Shariah principles.
 - Please see the section entitled Special Investment Considerations and Risks of the Prospectus where full details are disclosed.
